

Subdivision targets racing enthusiasts

Dallas Business Journal - June 29, 2006

A new residential subdivision is being built about 40 minutes east of Dallas for those with an abiding love for driving.

Developers plan to break ground for Racers Ranch -- a 1,300-acre parcel of land -- on July 11, to open the way for developing a gated community that will include a 3.4-mile road-racing course, a clubhouse, pool and an equestrian center.

The development is being built by Bill Georgas and Dan Gage, and it will include a track designed by Alan Wilson of Wilson Motorsport Inc., based in North Salt Lake, Utah. Wilson has designed and consulted on tracks across the country.

Racers Ranch will be located just south of Interstate 20, off Hiram Road.
